Background Information

Temporary protected status (TPS) is a temporary immigration status to the United States, granted to eligible nationals of designated countries. In 1990, as part of the Immigration Act of 1990, Congress established a procedure which can provide TPS to immigrants who are temporarily unable to safely return to their home country because of ongoing armed conflict, an environmental disaster, or other extraordinary and temporary conditions. Administering the TPS program is the responsibility of U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS).

During the period for which a country has been designated for TPS, TPS beneficiaries may remain in the United States; however, TPS does not lead to permanent resident status (green card). Countries can be designated for TPS due to the following temporary conditions:

- Ongoing armed conflict (such as civil war)
- An environmental disaster (such as earthquake or hurricane), or an epidemic
- Other extraordinary and temporary conditions

Administering the TPS program is the responsibility of U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS).

Note: All documentation submitted in support of a USCIS application, petition, or request is subject to destruction after being scanned into USCIS electronic systems. Submitted documentation may include, but is not limited:

- Applications, Petitions, or Requests
- Supporting Documentation
- Unrequested Documentation

Records that are linked to national security, law enforcement, fraud, administrative investigations or actions, congressional inquiries or similar matters may be extended beyond the applicable retention period in five-year increments.

This schedule supports:

- The USCIS initiative to move from paper to electronic records in compliance with the media neutral guidance found in 36 CFR § 1225.24 and the E-Government Act of 2002.
- This schedule also complies with GRS 4.3, Items 10 and 11 (for previously scheduled records).
