

Elizabeth O'Kane

Senior Security Advisor,
Counterintelligence, Human Intelligence, Foreign Disclosure, & Security Directorate
Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Intelligence, G-2
Headquarters, Department of the Army

As the Army's Senior Security Advisor, Elizabeth manages the policy, political, programmatic, and technical challenges confronting the Army's security portfolio. She also served the Army G-2 as the Chief of Personnel Security, advocating for swift personnel vetting reform. Prior to the Army, she worked at the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence & Security as the Department's lead for Continuous Evaluation. During this time, Elizabeth also oversaw the directorate's budget, executed numerous contracts, and made key contributions to the insider threat and the personnel, information, and physical security teams. Elizabeth began her federal career in a developmental position with the Defense Information Systems Agency (DISA). While at DISA, Elizabeth served in several positions and gained diverse experience in information technology, data analysis, human resources, consulting, program management, policy, and acquisition. Elizabeth obtained both her bachelor's and master's degrees from Indiana University's School of Public and Environmental Affairs in Bloomington, Indiana. She continued her passion for learning by completing both the DoD and the DISA Executive Leadership Development Programs and achieving a Chief of Information Operations Certificate from the National Defense University. Elizabeth has received formal recognition throughout her career for individual and team performance as well as risk-taking. Elizabeth prides herself on building teams that promote innovation, creativity, and diversity in the workplace. She is happiest enjoying the outdoors and spending time with her husband and three children.
