Scheduling Guidance Updates

Andrea Riley

Supervisor

Operations Research &
Support Team (ACRS)

- Scheduling Guides provide advice on scheduling specific categories of records, usually based on function
- NARA issued the first guide, Scheduling Public Affairs Records, in 2016
- The new guides reformat some of NARA's existing guidance on:
 - Common permanent records
 - Personal data
 - Research and development records
 - Environmental health and safety records
- New guides cover legal and legislative records
- We expect to issue more of these guides as they are prepared
- See AC 25.2024 for more information

Instructions for Reviewing Agency Schedules

- NARA regulations require agencies to review records schedules that are ten years old or older every five years (see 36 CFR 1225.22a)
- We have provided instructions on how to use the Records Control Schedule repository (RCS) to identify and review agency records schedules
 - We do not recommend using ERA for this review as it does not contain item level data from pre-ERA schedules
- We encourage agencies to report inactive schedules to NARA so that we can update the RCS
 - Information on how to do this is also provided in the instructions
- See AC 27.2024 for more information or contact LSSP_Team@nara.gov

Guide to Inventorying, Scheduling and Disposition of Federal Records

- We are in the process of updating the Guide to Inventorying, Scheduling and Disposition of Federal Records, also known as the ISD
- This guide is a web edition of the Disposition of Federal Records Handbook
- We are in the process of completely revising the ISD
 - Content will better address records scheduling in an electronic records environment
 - It will include step-by-step instructions and best practices for inventorying and scheduling records
 - The guide will also explain the appraisal process
- We expect the new ISD to appear in early FY2025

Records Management for Contractors

Advice Specific to Contractors about Federal Records

As a starting point, assume that you are creating records that are subject to federal requirements.

- REVIEW the specific details of your situation.
 - What is the scope of your workflow ?
 - What records are your company involved with?
- REVIEW your contract to determine if there are any unique recordkeeping requirements specific to your work. (for example - you work in electronic records...you need to produced records in a specific electronic format).
- CONSIDER any employee training that is required so that records are created, transferred and stored effectively.

Memorandum to Federal Records Management Contacts: Deleting Draft Records Schedules from ERA 2.0

After October 1, 2024, all records schedules in the status "draft" that were created prior to October 1, 2021 will be deleted from ERA 2.0. Moving forward, NARA will delete draft records schedules that are more than three years old on an annual basis.

Agencies are encouraged to review existing draft records schedules and take steps to finalize or delete them. We have created a job aid How to Locate Draft Records Schedules. We have also created the ERA 2.0 Schedule Data Entry Tool to help agencies draft schedules outside of the system.

Please note that any draft records schedules created in ERA prior to October 1, 2020 were NOT migrated to ERA 2.0 (See AC 22.2023). If you have any questions, contact your assigned NARA appraiser.
