Mariel Cuban Parole and Repatriation
Review Program Records

The Departmental Mariel Cuban Review Program (MCRP) was created as a result of negotiations that ended uprisings by Mariel Boatlift Cubans who were detained by the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) on the basis of self-reported criminal backgrounds in Cuba, their mental disorders, or other reasons that made them undesirable under immigration laws then in existence.

The MCRP provided for a parole review (8 CFR 212.13) for all detainees who had been in continuous INS custody since December 28, 1987, and a repatriation review (53 F.R. 52520) for those detainees named in the 1984 repatriation agreement who were in INS custody and whom INS had determined should be repatriated.

1. Review Case Files. The case files consist of file review summaries, opinions, and a final decision (prepared in English and Spanish). As many as three panels may be required to reach a final disposition, and a copy of each panel's opinion is made a part of the file. The original copy of the
