	BUREAU OF ENFORCEMENT The Bureau of Enforcement initiates prosecution of violations under all parts of the Interstate Commerce Act and related Acts, such as the Elkins Act, and the Clayton Antitrust Act through civil or criminal court proceedings or proceedings before the Commission. When specifically authorized by the Commission or a division thereof in any particular case or class of cases, participates in Commission proceedings for the purpose of developing the facts and issues. A division of prosecution was organized by the Commission after passage of the Hepburn Amendment in 1906. This division became the Division of Inquiry in 1911, and, in 1917, the Bureau of Inquiry. In 1954, the Bureau absorbed the enforcement activities in respect to motor carriers under Part II of the Act, and became the present Bureau of Inquiry and Compliance whose name was changed to the Bureau of Enforcement in 1965.

	Since its inception, the Bureau has followed reasonably uniform practices with respect to cases approved by the Commission for prosecution or other court proceedings. The Commission is not empowered to prosecute directly those who are charged with criminal misconduct under the Act. Proposed criminal cases are referred to the appropriate United States Attorney for prosecution. Some of the civil enforcement remedies provided by statute are brought in the Federal Courts directly by the Commission while others are referred to the Attorney General for appropriate handling. In any event, however, the Bureau prepares the necessary pleadings, briefs and arguments and actively participates in the trial of the cases whether criminal or civil. In proceedings before the Commission in which the Bureau participates, it does so the same as any other party in the case. The defense of Commission orders which are attacked in Court is handled by the Office of the General Counsel. The Bureau of Enforcement is the enforcement arm of the Commission. The records listed below are those created by the Bureau of Enforcement and its predecessors in performing its enforcement functions. Any records involved in pending investigations or litigation upon expiration of the proposed retention periods will be retained until completion of the investigation or settlement of the litigation. This schedule supersedes the old schedule for the Bureau of Inquiry and Compliance, NN-162-86, dated 9-11-62. Items 1-13 in schedule NN-162-86 were deleted because they are covered in the Commission General Schedule, NN-169-103, dated 4-18-69. Items 20-23 in schedule NN-162-86 were deleted because they are no longer maintained as separate files but have been combined with Enforcement case files herein.
