GAO Records Retention Schedules - 2014 Revision

Schedule 2: Mission Schedule (N1-411-06-2)

The mission of the GAO is to support the Congress in meeting its constitutional responsibilities and to help improve the performance and ensure the accountability of the federal government for the benefit of the American people. GAO performs a wide-range of audits in the agency's work and the majority of these engagements are conducted in response to congressional mandates or requests. The engagements include evaluations of federal programs and performance, financial and management audits, and policy analyses. GAO policies and procedures define the records that make up the Mission Schedule. They include audit documentation, data collected from the agencies, research tools, and systems to track and inventory the engagement process and product as well as communications with Congress.

As these records are created and maintained in different media and formats, this records schedule is written to authorize the disposition of the records in any media (media neutral). GAO would maintain these records throughout their life cycle. Those engagements that are historically significant will be transferred to NARA when 20 years old. If the Archives accepts the transfer as an accession, the information would be transferred to NARA electronically.

Item 2.1: Audit Documentation and Engagement Management

Records that include all relevant material (excluding the final report) obtained or developed in connection with managing and conducting an audit assignment, including the evidence (evidentiary files) and documentation to support findings, actions taken, steps and analyses performed, conditions encountered, conclusions reached, recommendations made, and follow-up activities. The records are comprised of two pieces – evidentiary files and the Engagement Management Product Files (EMPF). Engagement documentation may consist of electronic and paper documents, data, databases, data models, artifacts, audio or video materials, photographs, maps, and other evidentiary items.

In addition, GAO follows up on federal agency actions in response to GAO recommendations, and creates case files supporting the accomplishment reports.

Disposition: TEMPORARY. Destroy or delete 5 years after engagement is closed.

NOTE: Records for audits that include an investigative component are retained for 10 years (see Item 2.4).

Exception:

Engagement Confidential Respondent Identification Files, consisting of the identity of individuals or organizations providing very sensitive personal or commercial information to GAO in audits where respondents have been given an assurance of confidentiality and any findings, conclusions, and reports will be made at an aggregated level so that no information is attributable to any individual.

Disposition: TEMPORARY. Upon verification of non-identifiable information relevant to the audit, the identifying information will be destroyed. (N1-411-03-1, approved 9/23/03)

Item 2.2: Congressional Relations

2.2.a: Records documenting interaction with Congress, such as engagement request and acceptance letters, other correspondence with members and committees, staff details to Congress, schedules of hearings and testimony, and the systems that track significant contact and activities.

Disposition: TEMPORARY. Destroy or delete after 7 years.

2.2.b: Records documenting scheduled GAO appearances at Congressional Hearings.

Disposition: TEMPORARY. Destroy or delete after 10 years.

- Resulted in extensive national media attention; or
- Resulted in the approval of new legislation by Congress, or substantive changes to existing legislation.
- Special investigations files selected based on significant Comptroller General, public, and/or Congressional scrutiny.
